AGREEMENT FOR JOINT OWNERSHIP OF POLES

AGREEMENT, made this 26th day of July, 1974, by and between Public Service Company of New Hampshire, a corporation of the State of New Hampshire, hereinafter called the "Electric Company", and Mount Washington Development Company, a Pennsylvania limited partnership duly authorized to do business in the State of New Hampshire and doing business as Bretton Woods Telephone Company, hereinafter called the "Telephone Company".

WITNESSETH:

WHEREAS to the extent consistent with considerations of safety and economy it is desired to bring under agreement all poles used in common by the parties hereto and to establish and maintain such poles for the support of wires, cables and other facilities; and

WHEREAS this use of poles may be accomplished through joint ownership; and

WHEREAS the conditions determining the necessity or desirability of joint ownership depend upon the service requirements to be met by each party, including considerations of safety and economy, and each party should be the sole judge in each specific instance as to whether or not its service requirements can be met properly by joint ownership of poles.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the premises and the mutual covenants herein contained, the parties hereto, for themselves and their successors and assigns, do hereby covenant and agree as follows:

SECTION I - SCOPE OF AGREEMENT

ARTICLE I - TERRITORY

- A. This Agreement shall be effective in all locations in The State of New Hampshire in which both parties have or may have poles for the support of wires, cables and other facilities used for rendering service to the public.

ARTICLE II - POLES

- A. This Agreement shall cover all poles now or hereafter owned by each of the parties hereto when said poles are brought under this Agreement in accordance with the procedure hereinafter provided.
- B. Each party reserves the right to exclude from joint ownership:
  - 1. Poles which in the owner's judgment should be for its exclusive use;
  - 2. Poles which carry, or are intended to carry, facilities of such character as to make present or future joint ownership undesirable.

ARTICLE III - USE OF POLES BY MUNICIPALITIES

- A. Upon written request of municipal authorities, or if deemed desirable by the parties hereto, one gain of the poles covered by this Agreement shall be reserved for fire alarm and police signal wires of the municipality in which the poles are located but only if such wires are owned by the municipality and are used exclusively for municipal purposes.

ARTICLE IV - STANDARD JOINT POLE

- A. For the purposes of this Agreement, a standard joint pole shall be a 35 foot, Class 5, chemically treated wood pole or its equivalent as specified by the American Standards Association.
- B. Subject to the provisions of this Agreement as to allocation of costs, poles other than standard joint poles may be used as joint poles with space thereon allocated in a mutually agreeable manner if consistent with the standards of the National Electrical Safety Code.

ARTICLE V - SPECIFICATIONS FOR JOINT CONSTRUCTION

- A. The construction practices of both parties on jointly owned poles covered by this Agreement shall at all times be in keeping with the provisions of "Joint Pole Practices For Supply and Communication Circuits" based on Part 2, Fifth Edition of the National Electrical Safety Code; or future revisions thereof, attached to and made a part of this Agreement. As mutually agreed by both parties, exceptions to the foregoing specifications, including Section IV, Article I of this Agreement, shall be consistent with the standards of the National Electrical Safety Code.

SECTION II - JOINT OWNERSHIP OF POLES

ARTICLE I - ALLOCATION OF SPACE ON JOINTLY OWNED POLES

- A. Space on a jointly owned standard pole shall be allocated as follows:
  - 1. To the Electric Company, the uppermost four (4) feet.
  - 2. To the Telephone Company, a space of three (3) feet at a sufficient distance below the space of the Electric Company to provide at all times the minimum clearances required by the National Electrical Safety Code, and at a sufficient height above ground to provide the proper vertical clearance for the lowest horizontal run line wires or cable attached in such space.
  - 3. The space assigned to each party shall be for its exclusive use, except where the National Electrical Safety Code permits certain attachments of one party to be located in space assigned to the other party.

ARTICLE II - ACQUIRING JOINT OWNERSHIP IN EXISTING POLES

A. Whenever one party desires to acquire joint ownership in any poles owned by the other party in streets, highways, or alleys in which there are no poles in which it has an interest or ownership, written application therefor shall be made to the owner, specifying the location of the poles, the number and kind of attachments to be placed thereon, and the character of the circuits to be installed. The owner shall notify the applicant in writing either of its approval or disapproval or specify such modification therein it may desire. If the owner grants the application, joint ownership may be established as follows:

1. If said poles as then found are suitable for joint ownership hereunder, the applicant party shall pay to the owner one-half of the then value of said poles.
2. If said poles as then found are not suitable for joint ownership hereunder, the owner shall cause them to be replaced by poles which are suitable for such joint ownership. The owner of the abandoned poles shall be entitled to receive from the party desiring joint ownership, an amount equal to one-half of the then value of the abandoned poles. The expense incurred in removing the abandoned poles and the salvage derived therefrom, shall be divided equally between the parties hereto. Each party shall pay one-half of the cost of the new poles, except as specified in Article III, B, 2 of this Section.

B. When joint ownership of existing poles in any specific location is to be established as a substitute for separate ownership of existing poles located on the same street, highway, or alley, the following conditions shall be observed:

1. If the poles of one party only are suitable for joint ownership hereunder, the party owning such suitable poles shall be paid by the other party an amount equal to one-half of the then value of such poles less one-half of the then value of the abandoned poles; provided, that in no case shall the total value of the abandoned poles be deemed greater than the total value of the suitable poles. The expense incurred in removing the abandoned poles and the salvage derived therefrom shall be divided equally between the parties hereto.
2. If the poles of both parties are suitable for joint ownership, whichever of the poles of each party as are agreed upon as suitable for joint ownership shall become jointly owned and the party owning such suitable poles shall be paid by the other party an amount equal to one-half of the then value of such poles less one-half of the then value of the abandoned poles; provided that in no case shall the total value of the abandoned poles be deemed greater than the total value of the suitable poles. The expense incurred in removing the abandoned poles and the salvage derived therefrom shall be divided equally between the parties hereto.

3. If the poles of neither party are suitable for joint ownership, new poles suitable for joint ownership shall be placed and the cost thereof shall be borne equally by the parties hereto except as provided in Article III, B, 2 of this Section. The abandoned poles shall be removed at the expense of the owners thereof and the salvage shall belong to the respective owners thereof.

ARTICLE III - ACQUIRING JOINT OWNERSHIP IN NEW POLES

- A. Whenever either party is about to erect new poles within the territory covered by this Agreement either as an additional pole line or as an extension of an existing pole line, or as a reconstruction of an existing pole line, and when it may be desirable to offer such new poles for joint ownership hereunder, advance notice of intent shall be given the other party, such notice specifying the proposed location and character of the new poles. Such notice shall be in writing and given as early as possible before beginning the work, but if such notice cannot be given in advance, verbal notice, subsequently confirmed in writing, may be given. The notifying party shall submit with its written notice plans showing the proposed location and number and character of the new poles and of the circuits it proposes to install thereon, including the amount of space required for its purposes, and shall offer joint ownership of such new poles. The other party shall reply in writing stating whether or not it desires joint ownership. If joint ownership is desired, it shall specify the amount of space, together with the number and kind of attachments and the number and character of circuits to be installed thereon. If such other party requests joint ownership in the new poles and if the character and number of circuits and attachments are such that the notifying party does not wish to exclude the poles from joint ownership, the notifying party shall acknowledge the acceptance promptly in writing to the other party. One of the parties shall so far as possible obtain all rights and locations for both parties; provided that, as to rights and locations on private property, both parties agree that each particular right or location is necessary, but no guarantee is given by either party to the other covering said rights and locations and such party shall erect the poles in accordance with said plans or such other plans as may be agreed upon in writing, said poles to be of sufficient height to provide space as defined in Article I of this Section II for the other party unless additional space is agreed upon in writing prior to said acceptance.
- B. The cost of erecting new jointly owned poles under the foregoing paragraph of this Article and of Article I in Section IV, shall include the costs of rights-of-way required, the poles erected and the removal of abandoned poles if any (unless otherwise agreed upon by the parties hereto) and shall be borne by the parties as follows:

1. In the case of a standard pole, or a pole shorter than the standard pole, the cost shall be divided equally between the two parties.
2. In the case of a pole taller than the standard pole, the extra height of which is due wholly to the requirements of one of the parties, the entire cost above the cost of erecting a standard pole shall be borne by such party and the balance equal to the cost of a standard pole shall be divided equally between the two parties.
3. In the case of a pole taller than the standard pole, the extra height of which is due to the requirements of both parties, the costs shall be divided equally.
4. In the case of a pole taller than the standard pole, where a height in addition to that needed for the purpose of either or both of the parties is necessary to meet the requirements of public authority or of property owners, the cost of such pole due to such requirement shall be divided equally.

ARTICLE IV - TERMINATION OF JOINT OWNERSHIP IN A POLE

- A. Should either party desire to terminate its interest in a jointly owned pole at any time, it shall give the other party notice to that effect in writing. If the other party desires to continue the use of such pole, it shall so notify the party desiring to terminate in writing and, upon the removal of all the attachments of the terminating party, the pole shall become the sole property of the remaining party and such party shall save harmless the terminating party from all obligation, liability, damages, costs, expenses or charges incurred or arising after termination and not growing out of anything theretofore occurring, because of or arising out of the presence or condition of such pole or of any attachments thereon. The party becoming the sole owner shall pay to the terminating party one-half of the value of a pole of the age of said pole determined from the billing schedule in effect when half interest in said pole had originally been purchased by the electric company from the telephone company.
- B. Should both parties terminate the use of any jointly owned pole at the same time, each party shall, at its own expense, remove its attachments therefrom and the custodian of such pole shall thereupon remove the pole. The expense of removal and any salvage derived therefrom shall be divided between the parties in proportion to the division of their ownership thereof.

ARTICLE V - FACILITIES FOR SUPPORTING JOINTLY OWNED POLES

- A. Whenever one or both parties shall place, or cause to be placed, attachments upon any new or existing jointly owned poles which make it necessary to support such poles with push braces, stub poles, anchors or rock bolts with associated guy strands, the following conditions shall apply:
1. If the attachments of one party only make it necessary to provide facilities for supporting jointly owned poles, such supporting facilities shall be installed and maintained at the sole expense of the party owning such attachments.
  2. If the attachments of both parties make it necessary to provide push braces or stub poles as supporting facilities on jointly owned poles, the cost of such push braces or stub poles shall be divided equally between the parties in accordance with the provisions of Articles II, III and IV of this Section.
  3. If the attachments of both parties make it necessary to provide anchors or rock bolts as supporting facilities on jointly owned poles, joint ownership of anchors or rock bolts shall be established as follows:
    - a. Whenever existing anchors or rock bolts are adequate in size and strength to serve as a common point of attachment for the guy strands of both parties, the applicant party shall pay to the owner one-half the cost of such anchors or rock bolts.
    - b. Whenever new anchors or rock bolts are necessary to meet the requirements of both parties, one of the parties hereto shall install anchors or rock bolts of adequate size and strength to serve as a common point of attachment for the guy strands of both parties and the cost of such anchors or rock bolts shall be divided equally.
  4. If any anchors or rock bolts are associated with jointly owned stub poles, such anchors or rock bolts shall also be jointly owned and the cost divided equally between the parties hereto.
- B. Whenever guy strands are employed by either one or both parties to support new or existing jointly owned poles, such guy strands shall be installed and maintained at the sole expense of each of the parties hereto.

SECTION III - CONSTRUCTION AND MAINTENANCE

ARTICLE I - CUSTODY AND MAINTENANCE

- A. Each jointly owned pole shall be in the custody of one of the parties hereto, such custodianship to be determined by mutual agreement of the parties.
- B. The custodian shall maintain its custody poles in safe and serviceable condition in accordance with the provisions of Article V of Section I, the expense thereof to be proportioned between the parties hereto as agreed upon in the addenda hereto to be executed from time to time covering jointly owned poles.
- C. Neither party shall be required to transfer any cable installed prior to the date of this Agreement from the street side of any pole or poles to the field side thereof.
- D. The custodian shall replace such poles as become defective or are inadequate for proposed additional attachments, and the cost thereof shall be borne as provided in Section II.
- E. Upon notice from the other party in writing, the custodian shall replace promptly any pole or poles which may be considered unsafe. If the custodian does not do so within a reasonable time, the other party may replace said pole or poles and the cost thereof borne as provided in Section II.
- F. Should a tax or charge be made by Federal, state or municipal authority upon or on account of any of the poles covered by this Agreement or poles erected in renewal thereof or on account of any of the locations occupied by said poles, said tax or charge shall be treated as a part of the cost of maintenance, except that any tax or charge levied upon or on account of said poles strictly and solely as telephone poles, shall be paid by the Telephone Company and any tax or charge levied upon or on account of said poles strictly and solely, as electric light poles, shall be paid by the Electric Company.
- G. Should it become necessary to replace a jointly owned pole or to change the location of any such pole by reason of any state, municipal or other governmental requirement, or the requirements of a property owner, the custodian shall, before starting any work in connection therewith, give notice thereof in writing (except in cases of emergency when verbal notice will be given and subsequently confirmed in writing) to the other party, specifying in such notice the time of such proposed work, and such other party shall, at the time so specified, transfer its attachments to the pole or poles at the new location.

- H. Should it become necessary to replace a jointly owned pole carrying terminals of aerial cable, underground connections or transformer equipment, the new pole shall be set in the same hole previously occupied by the replaced pole, unless special conditions recognized by both parties make it necessary or advisable to set the new pole in a different location.
- I. Joint construction in existence at the time of signing this Agreement which does not conform to the requirements of Article V of Section I shall be brought into conformity therewith as soon as practicable and as agreed upon by the parties hereto.

ARTICLE II - PLACING, MAINTAINING, TRANSFERRING OR REARRANGING ATTACHMENTS

- A. Except as otherwise provided herein, each party shall place, maintain, rearrange, transfer and remove its own attachments (including any additional guying, tree trimming, or cutting incidental thereto) at its own expense and shall at all times perform such work promptly and in such manner as not to interfere with the service of the other party. Each party shall take reasonable precaution to prevent the interference of its wires on jointly owned poles or of its system with the system and service of the other party.

ARTICLE III - PROCEDURE WHEN CHARACTER OF CIRCUITS IS CHANGED

- A. Should either party desire to change the character of its circuits on jointly owned poles, such party shall give notice to the other party of such contemplated change. In the event that the other party agrees to continued joint ownership with such changed circuits, then the joint ownership of such poles shall be continued with such changes in construction as may be needed to meet the requirements of Article V of Section I for the character of circuits involved. However, should the other party fail to agree in writing to such change, then both parties shall cooperate in accordance with the following plan:
  - 1. The parties shall determine the most practical and economical method of effectively providing for separate lines and the party removing its circuits shall promptly carry out the necessary work.
  - 2. The party vacating jointly owned poles shall receive payment from the party remaining on the poles an amount equal to one-half the value of a pole of the age of said pole determined from the billing schedule in effect when half interest in said pole had originally been purchased by the electric company from the telephone company.

SECTION IV - GENERAL PROVISIONS

ARTICLE I - EXCHANGE NOTICES AND ADDENDA

- A. When arranging for joint ownership of poles hereunder, the parties hereto shall interchange statements containing full details of the work involved together with such sketches as are necessary to give a clear understanding of the existing and proposed conditions. The appropriate one or more of the two forms, namely: Joint Line - Exchange of Notice and Memorandum and Foreign Wire Relations - Exchange of Notice, attached to and made a part hereof, shall be used for this purpose.
- B. - B. In cases involving any injuries or damages to persons or property, each party shall assume all or its proper proportion of the responsibility and expense as follows:
  - 1. Each party shall be solely responsible and assume the full expense for any injuries and damages caused by its own crossarms, fixtures, wires, attachments and other facilities.

2. Each party shall be responsible for its share of any injuries or damages caused by or arising out of jointly owned pole or poles or other jointly owned facilities covered by this Agreement in proportion to its interest therein.
  3. The Electric Company shall be solely responsible for any injuries or damages caused by its solely owned pole.
  4. Each party shall assume its share of the expense for any injuries or damages for which neither party is solely responsible in proportion to its interest in the facility causing the injury or damage.

If the injuries or damages result from improper maintenance of jointly owned pole or poles, the party having custody of such pole or poles shall assume the expense of defense and shall pay the settlement or verdict. If the suit is based upon the location of the pole or poles, the expense of defense and the settlement or verdict shall be shared equally.

1. Mortgage any or all of its property, rights, privileges and franchises whether or not subject to this Agreement;
